Norfolk Air and OzJet sign five year deal

Norfolk Air and OzJet Airlines have entered into a contract for the provision of air services between Norfolk Island and Australian mainland airports for a further five years.

The new contract was signed today in Norfolk Island by OzJet's General Manager - East Coast Australia, New Zealand and Pacific and the Chief Executive Officer of the Administration of Norfolk Island, owners of Norfolk Air.

The contract takes effect from the expiry of current arrangements in May this year, and includes a range of conditions aimed at upgrading services at competitive prices during the life of the deal.

Norfolk Air continues to expand its schedule, with a new Friday service to Brisbane commencing next week and Newcastle services starting on May 7.
