FULL TIME POSITION VACANT

Manager – Local Services and Assets

- Help drive the change agenda
- Blend of strategic and operational
- Exceptional lifestyle options

Located approximately halfway between Sydney and Auckland, Norfolk Island is an iconic part of Australian history and home to one of the most stunning and unique natural environments. Having recently been through a period of change, we are now looking to further strengthen our management team to ensure we set the platform for long term growth and a sustainable future.

This is a pivotal role that will see you taking the lead in coordinating a broad range of key engineering and infrastructure projects with a focus on waste management, public reserves, environment, roads, water and sewer activities. You will also provide informed strategic advice to Council to help deliver sustainable, high quality community services.

A qualified Civil Engineer with an impressive track record in environmental and roads infrastructure management, you will have an excellent working knowledge of all relevant acts and regulations, safe work practices and contract management. On a personal level, you are an analytical problem-solver with strong conflict resolution, strategic planning and team leadership skills.

This is a unique opportunity within a unique environment that offers an unparalleled blend of personal, professional and lifestyle benefits. To apply and to download a comprehensive information pack, visit mcarthur.com.au and enter ref. 134,671 in the job search function. If you have further questions, please call Tamar Ankeshian on (02) 9277 7000 for a confidential discussion. Applications close 5pm, Friday 30 June 2017.
